LESSON 1. ACCOMMODATION. NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Accommodation is a key component of tourism. When we travel, we need a place to stay! There are many different types of accommodation to suit different budgets, different types of tourism and different types of customers. The role of an accommodation provider is to provide a safe and secure place for a tourist to stay. Standards differ between different providers and according to different budgets. Below, I have outlined the most commonly found different types of accommodation and given some examples too. But, before you read on take a look at this handy animation about the types of accommodation that I made....!¹

Catered accommodation provides the tourist with food. The food may or may not be included in the price of the hotel.

Hotels

Hotels are the most traditional and most common types of accommodation. Hotels can be large or small. They can be independently owned businesses or they can be part of a hotel chain. Hotels may be part of a holiday resort.

Bed and breakfasts

A bed and breakfast is just as it sounds- a type of accommodation that offer a bed and a breakfast! Bed a breakfast accommodations in the UK are traditional a type of guest house or home-stay.

Guest houses and home-stays

A guest house is essentially a house that welcomes guests. There is a fine line between a guest house and a bed and breakfast. While there is no hard and fast rule, guest houses tend to be bigger than bed and breakfast accommodations. Guest houses may or may not offer breakfast included in the price of the hotel room.

Lead-in.

0.1 Look at the pictures of rooms in a house. What rooms are they? Complete the words with the missing letters.

Exercise 2. Look at some other places that you find in and around a house. Then, match the names in the box to the pictures.

Exercise 3. Read how Giorgio describes what he does before and after he goes to university each day. For each question, choose the best answer A, B or C.

Every weekday morning, my alarm goes 1 ___ at 8:30am. This gives me enough time to get ready before my lectures start at 10:00am. Then, I 2 ___ up and go downstairs. I'm often too tired to eat breakfast, so I sometimes go to the 3 ___ and just get some juice. I always talk to my housemates if they are there, in the 4 ___ . After that, I head back upstairs to get ready. I go to the bathroom, 5 ___ my teeth and sometimes 6 ___ my room. When it's time to leave, I pack my bag and go to college. At the end of the day when I get back home, I sometimes help the others with the 7 ___ - if we don't do it, all the rooms we share get very messy. When the house is clean again, we usually spend some time in the living room. We sit down together on the 8 ___ and play games online for a while. We're always happy when we get the chance to do this, as it helps us relax. Before I go to sleep, I sit at my 9 ___ and do my homework. I never forget to do it. At the weekend, I can finally relax. I have a lie 10 until about 11:30am.

LESSON 2. UNEMPLOYMENT

Unemployment is a very serious issue not only in India but in the whole world. There are hundreds and thousands of people out there who do not have employment. Besides, the problems of unemployment are very severe in India because of the growing population and demand for jobs.

Moreover, if we neglect this problem then it will be going to become the reason for the doom of the nation.

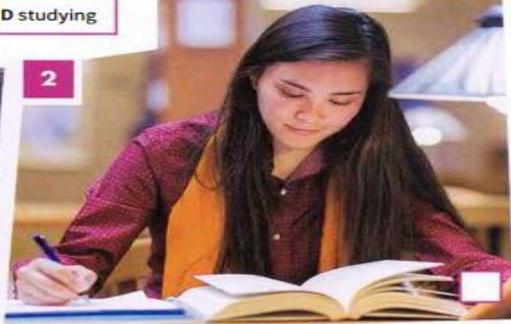

Types of Unemployment

Now we know what is unemployment but unemployment does not only mean that the person does not have a job. Likewise, unemployment also includes people working in areas out of their expertise. The various types of unemployment include disguised unemployment, seasonal unemployment, open unemployment, technological unemployment, structural unemployment. Besides, some other unemployment is cyclic unemployment, educated unemployment, underemployment, frictional unemployment, chronic unemployment, and casual unemployment.

Above all, seasonal unemployment, under unemployment, and disguised unemployment are the most common unemployment that is found in India.²

LESSON 3. SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Science, technology and innovation each represent a successively larger category of activities which are highly interdependent but distinct. Science contributes to technology in at least six ways: (1) new knowledge which serves as a direct source of ideas for new technological possibilities; (2) source of tools and techniques for more efficient engineering design and a knowledge base for evaluation of feasibility of designs; (3) research instrumentation, laboratory techniques and analytical methods used in research that eventually find their way into design or industrial practices, often through intermediate disciplines; (4) practice of research as a source for development and assimilation of new human skills and capabilities eventually useful for technology; (5) creation of a knowledge base that becomes increasingly important in the assessment of technology in terms of its wider social and environmental impacts; (6) knowledge base that enables more efficient strategies of applied research, development, and refinement of new technologies³.

Exercise 1. Lead in. Match the technology words in the box with the pictures.

desktop computer laptop smartphone letter tablet landline telephone smart TV smart watch

³ <https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0048733394010013>

Exercise 2. Read the sentences and underline the correct spellings

1 My computer crushed/crashed/crashed and I lost my homework. It is important that you spell words correctly in exams, otherwise you will lose marks.

2 You need to shout down I shot down/shut down your laptop when you finish using it.

3 There are some excellent wepsites /websites/ websides that can help you to study.

4 I own three devices/advices/divises - a smartphone, a laptop and a tablet.

5 The computers at school are all connected to the same netwalk/netwok/network.

Exercise 3. You are going to read an article about the internet. Skim the article once quickly. What is the best title for the article, A, B or C.

A New developments on the internet

B How people communicate on the internet

C Why people use the internet

The internet is still quite a new development in technology, however it is impossible to think about life without it. It works in a very simple way. It takes information and sends it from one computer to another. It is not a difficult job, but it is a very big one. There are hundreds of millions of computers connected to the internet at the sometime. However, they don't all do the same thing. Some computers are like a digital box that store information, (like videos or music files) that people see, read or listen to. These stores of information are called servers, and there are three categories. The first type is a file server, which holds ordinary documents. The second is a mail server for sending and receiving emails. The third is a web server for web pages. We know these servers store information but how do people find this information or send it to each other? For this, you need a client. A client is a computer that gets information from a server and delivers it to another computer. When you go online on your smartphone, you are using it as a client. When two computers on the internet exchange information, they are known as peers.

◆ Peer-to-peer (P2P) communication is when you send someone a photo on your smartphone. When that person sees this photo, your smartphone is working as the server. It stores the photo and the other person's device is the client, which searches for your information. It then displays the photo on the other person's screen.⁴

Homework. Find out new words from the text above and write down their definition.

Lesson 4. The Gerund. Doing exercises.

A gerund is a verb form that ends in “-ing” and is used as a noun (walking, traveling, voting); an infinitive is the base form of a verb preceded by “to” (to walk, to travel, to vote). Gerunds and infinitives can function as the subject of a sentence or the object of a verb. Words derived from verbs are known as verbals and may take modifiers, objects, and complements to form verbal phrases. A gerund phrase uses the “-ing” form of the verb to function as a noun; an infinitive phrase is formed using the infinitive and can function as a noun, adverb, or adjective.

When functioning as the subject of a sentence, gerunds and infinitives always use a singular verb form, for example: “Walking is good exercise.” In this sentence, the “-ing” verb form (“Walking”) is the simple subject and the verb “is” links the subject to the subject complement “good exercise,” which refers to and describes the subject. When a gerund phrase functions as a subject, the “-ing” verb form is expanded as a word group, for example: “Traveling with a friend made the trip to New York more enjoyable.” In this sentence, the gerund phrase (“Traveling with a friend”) is the subject, “made” is the verb, “the trip” is the direct object, “to New York” is the indirect object, and “more enjoyable” is the object complement.⁵

Exercise 1. Read the words which comes with gerund and repeat them.

Avoid	He avoided answering my questions.
complete	She finally completed writing her term paper.
Consider	I will consider going with you.
delay	He delayed leaving for school.
deny	She denied knowing anything about it.
discuss	They discussed opening a new business.
enjoy	We enjoyed visiting them.
Escape	The team escaped losing the final game.

LESSON 5. TRAVELING ABROAD

Travelling is one of the best hobbies that one can have. Travelling offers an opportunity for adventure, it satisfies one's sense of beauty and gives one a feeling of power over the things around him. It also helps one to see someone else's point of view. It opens up many new worlds to the traveler. Travelling provides adventure and adventure keeps us from growing old. As long as there is something to look forward to, the mind remains young and healthy. Adventure stimulates our imagination. It offers change and movement that are necessary to keep ourselves from getting bored. Now a day many of us turn to the television or films to fight our boredom. Real adventure is not undertaken by many of us. The entertainment that the television can provide is pale in comparison to what adventure can provide.

Travel brings people together. One comes into contact with many people of different lands and customs and this leads to a great deal of understanding between them. A man who has travelled a lot is more mature and likely to understand the other's point by view with more case and open mindedness.⁶

LESSON 6. TRANSPORTATION

Transportation is movement of people and goods from one location to another. Throughout history, the economic wealth and military power of a people or a nation have been closely tied to efficient methods of transportation.

Transportation provides access to natural resources and promotes trade, allowing a nation to accumulate wealth and power. Transportation also allows the movement of soldiers, equipment, and supplies so that a nation can wage war. Transportation systems and the routes they use have greatly influenced both how and where people live. Reliable transportation allows a population to expand throughout a country's territory and to live comfortably in remote areas far from factories and farms. The growth and expansion of the United States were directly related to the means of transportation available at the time. The more compact cities of the U.S. eastern seaboard are the result of early human- and animal-based transportation systems that allowed only short trips. The more sprawling cities of the western United States are the result of an automobile-based transportation system that permits much longer travel distances.⁷

LESSON 7. ENTERTAINMENT

The following outline provides an overview of and topical guide to entertainment and the entertainment industry:

Entertainment is any activity which provides a diversion or permits people to amuse themselves in their leisure time, and may also provide fun, enjoyment, and laughter. People may create their own entertainment, such as when they spontaneously invent a game; participate actively in an activity they find entertaining, such as when they play sport as a hobby; or consume an entertainment product passively, such as when they attend a performance.

The entertainment industry (informally known as show business or show biz) is part of the tertiary sector of the economy and includes many sub-industries devoted to entertainment. However, the term is often used in the mass media to describe the mass media companies that control the distribution and manufacture of mass media entertainment. In the popular parlance, the term show biz in particular connotes the commercially popular performing arts, especially musical theatre, vaudeville, comedy, film, fun, and music. It applies to every aspect of entertainment including cinema, television, radio, theatre, and music.⁸

LESSON 9. EDUCATION AND LEARNING

Education plays a very important role in our life. It is one of the most valuable possessions a man can get in his life. During all the periods of human history education ranked high among people.

Human progress mostly depended upon well-educated people. Self-education is very important for the development of human's talents. Only through self-education a person can become a harmonically developed personality. A person becomes a highly qualified specialist after getting some special education. And professionalism can be reached only through it. Even highly qualified specialists from time to time attend refresher courses to refresh their knowledge. We get our knowledge of this world and life through education. Many famous discoveries would have been impossible if people were not interested in learning something. Education develops different sides of human personality, reveals his abilities. Besides, it helps a person to understand himself, to choose the right way in this world. The civilized state differs from others in the fact that it pays much attention to the educational policy. John Kennedy said: "Our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education". But it doesn't concern only one particular nation. We know that science and art belong to the whole world. Before them the barriers of nationality disappear. So education brings people closer to each other, helps them to understand each other better.¹³

Exercise 1. Look at the types of schools and match them to the people on the right.

- | | |
|---------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. secondary school | a. a 20-year-old student, a professor |

LESSON 10. Infinitive. Working on grammar rules.

Structure/Type	Examples
verb + infinitive or verb + object + infinitive (after verbs such as advise, allow, ask, expect, force, get, hate, like, love, invite, need, pay, persuade, tell, want)	Jake loves to visit museums. I don't want you to read my emails. I advised him not to come to the party. But he came anyway.
Infinitive clauses that function as the subject of a sentence (usually formal or old-fashioned English)	To make mistakes is human. To say that he was here is simply not true. In informal or neutral English, we say: It's human to make mistakes. It's simply not true to say that he was here.
noun + infinitive	Do you have a pen to write with? I'd like something to drink.
Infinitive clauses that explain 'why' we do something	He opened the box to see what was inside. He got home early to cook dinner. They went to the station to buy a ticket.
verb + object + infinitive without 'to' (after the verbs help, let, make, watch, see, hear, have)	Can you help me make dinner? I saw him leave the house. I won't let you stay. ¹⁵

Exercise 1. Complete each sentence using one of the clauses below

call my name to be at home all day to book a room to drink coffee at night to leave early to listen to

11. The office is closed tomorrow, so please tell her that it's not necessary (she/come).

Homework. Make up 10 sentences for Infinitive by using special words and word combinations.

LESSON 11. THE MEDIA.

Media (that is, the press, the radio and television) play an important role in the life of society. They inform, educate and entertain people. They also influence the way people look at the world and make them change their views. Mass media mould public opinion. Millions of people in their spare time watch TV and read newspapers. Everybody can find there something interesting for him. On the radio one can hear music, plays, news and various discussions or commentaries of current events. Multiple radio or TV games and films attract a large audience. Newspapers are used in different ways, but basically they are read. There is a lot of advertisement on mass media. Some of the TV and radio stations and newspapers are owned by different corporations. The owners can advertise whatever they choose. But it is hardly fair to say that mass media do not try to raise cultural level of the people or to develop their artistic taste. Mass media brings to millions of homes not only entertainment and news but also cultural and educational programs. There are more than six TV channels and lot's of radio stations and newspapers now in the Russian Federation.¹⁶

Exercise 1. In pairs, answer the following questions.

1. Where do you usually read or watch the news? Newspapers? Social media? Online news?

Homework. Choose one of the great people of Uzbekistan and write about his/her life and contribution.

LESSON 13. LAW AND CRIME

Crime-fighting technology is getting more sophisticated and rightly so. The police need to be equipped for the 21st century. In Britain we've already got the world's biggest DNA database. By next year, the state will have access to the genetic data of 4.25m people: one British-based person in 14. Hundreds of thousands of those on the database will never have been charged with a crime. Britain is also reported to have more than four million CCTV (closed circuit television) cameras. There is a continuing debate about the effectiveness of CCTV. Some evidence suggests that it is helpful in reducing shoplifting and car crime. It has also been used to successfully identify terrorists and murderers. However, many claim that better lighting is just as effective to prevent crime, and that cameras could displace crime. Internal police report said that only one crime was solved for every 1,000 cameras in London in 2007. In short, there is conflicting evidence about the effectiveness of cameras, so it is likely that the debate will continue.¹⁹

Exercise 1. In pairs, discuss which crimes are serious and which are petty:

arson bribery burglary drug dealing drug possession drunk driving fraud hacking kidnapping manslaughter murder pickpocketing robbery shoplifting terrorism

Serious crimes: _____

LESSON 14. HEALTHY EATING

Eating a healthy diet is not about strict limitations, staying unrealistically thin, or depriving yourself of the foods you love. Rather, it's about feeling great, having more energy, improving your health, and boosting your mood.

Healthy eating doesn't have to be overly complicated. If you feel overwhelmed by all the conflicting nutrition and diet advice out there, you're not alone. It seems that for every expert who tells you a certain food is good for you, you'll find another saying exactly the opposite. The truth is that while some specific foods or nutrients have been shown to have a beneficial effect on mood, it's your overall dietary pattern that is most important. The cornerstone of a healthy diet should be to replace processed food with real food whenever possible. Eating food that is as close as possible to the way nature made it can make a huge difference to the way you think, look, and feel. By using these simple tips, you can cut through the confusion and learn how to create—and stick to—a tasty, varied, and nutritious diet that is as good for your mind as it is for your body.²¹

Exercise 4. What do you think of the research findings in the article? Is the life expectancy in your country high or low? What are the reasons for this? Is it good to live to a very old age?

What do you think of the research findings in the article?

Is the life expectancy in your country high or low? What are the reasons for this?

Is it good to live to a very old age?

Homework. Make a list of vocabularies related Healthy eating. Write their definition and make up sentences by using these words.

LESSON 15. HEALTH AND FITNESS

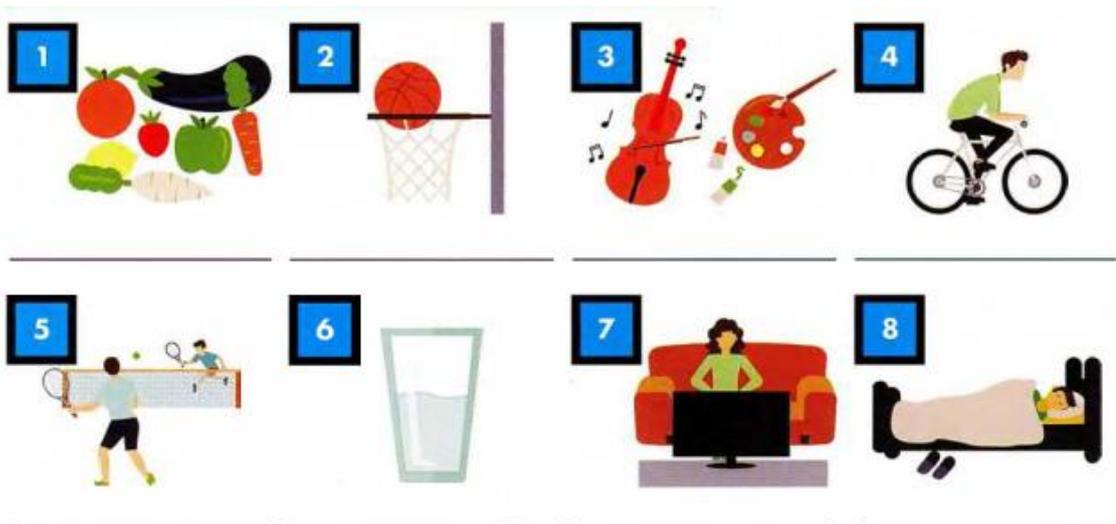

Switching to a healthy diet doesn't have to be an all or nothing proposition. You don't have to be perfect, you don't have to completely eliminate foods you enjoy, and you don't have to change everything all at once—that usually only leads to cheating or giving up on your new eating plan.

A better approach is to make a few small changes at a time. Keeping your goals modest can help you achieve more in the long term without feeling deprived or overwhelmed by a major diet overhaul. Think of planning a healthy diet as a number of small, manageable steps—like adding a salad to your diet once a day. As your small changes become habit, you can continue to add more healthy choices.²³

play tennis go cycling watch TV play basketball drink water

LESSON 16. WORK AND BUSINESS.

Business is a very demanding profession that has broadened and popularized over the years. A business requires high skills of management, teamwork, patience, mental strength, and effectiveness of work. A person should be mentally prepared to accept the fall of a business at any point of time in their life since it is not always secure. But, if planned properly, with help from the expertise and patiently blossomed over the years, then a business has a greater rate of success.

A business generally works with the coordination of several activities. Accounting, financial management, manufacturing, marketing, research and development, safety, and sales management are the various components that need to be tended to while running a good business with the aim of success. Investors, creditors, and regulators play a pivotal role in the profit of a business. Generally, there are four main types of businesses, which include sole proprietorships, partnerships, limited liability companies (LLC), and corporations. Before initiating a business, the entrepreneurs should carefully consider which structure is best suited for their enterprise.²⁵

LESSON 17. GLOBALIZATION

Globalization has become a familiar enough word, the meaning of which has been discussed by others before me during this conference. Let me nonetheless outline briefly what I understand by the term. I shall then go on to consider what has caused it. The bulk of my paper is devoted to discussing what we know, and what we do not know, about its consequences. I will conclude by considering what policy reactions seem to be called for. Moreover, globalization is much less of a reality in other fields than it is in the economic one. Culture still displays strong national, and even regional and local, variations. While English is clearly in the process of emerging to be a common world language, at least as a second language, minority languages are making something of a comeback, at least in developed countries.²⁷

Exercise 1. Look at the pictures. Match the ways of learning English in the box with the pictures study with a teacher in a classroom use a dictionary keep a vocabulary notebook read newspapers and magazines	talk to people whose first language is English listen to songs in English watch videos online write an email to a friend

- 6 Where are you going to watch the football match, at home or at your uncle's house?

Homework. Describe a language that you are studying, other than your first language

LESSON 18. WEATHER AND ENVIRONMENT.

Our planet Earth is only a tiny part of the universe, but nowadays it's the only place where we can live. People have lived on our planet for many years. They lived and live on different continents, in different countries. People depend on their planet, the sun, animals and plants around them. Environment is everything in the world around us that surround and affects all life on earth, including the air, food, water, plants, animals and other.

Environment is the place where we live. Since ancient time nature has served man, being the source of his life. For thousands of years people lived in harmony with environment and it seemed to them that natural riches were unlimited. But man's interference in nature began to increase with the development of civilization. Our ecology becomes worse and worse with every new day. Many species of animals and birds are disappearing nowadays. People destruct wildlife, cut down trees to make furniture. They forget that people can't live without trees and plants, because they fill air with oxygen.²⁸

Exercise 1. The following words refer to the natural world. Use the words to label the pictures above.

3

4

Bay

- 6: a person who acquires goods and services for his or her own personal needs
- 7: a small window containing an advertisement that appears on a computer screen

Homework. Write short story about your surrounding environment.

LESSON 19. DISCOVERIES

Television (1920s)

The invention that swept the world and changed leisure habits for countless millions was pioneered by Scottish-born electrical engineer John Logie Baird. It had been realised for some time that light could be converted into electrical impulses, making it possible to transmit such impulses over a distance and then reconvert them into light.

Motor Car (late 19th Century)

With television, the car is probably the most widely used and most useful of all leisure-inspired inventions. German engineer Karl Benz produced the first petrol driven car in 1885 and the British motor industry started in 1896. Henry Ford was the first to use assembly line production for his Model T car in 1908. Like them or hate them, cars have given people great freedom of travel.

Electricity

The name came from the Greek word for amber and was coined by Elizabeth I's physician William Gilbert who was among those who noticed that amber had the power to attract light objects after being rubbed. In the 19th century such great names as Michael Faraday, Humphry Davy, Alessandro Volta and Andre Marie Ampere all did vital work on electricity.²⁹

LESSON 20. BRITISH AND AMERICAN ENGLISH

It is not easy to compare the artistic styles and periods of different countries, especially as they may use different words to refer to the same features, and perhaps occasionally also use the same words with a slightly different meaning. Moreover, particular styles and periods overlap.

An example of this is the 'Victorian' period in Britain, which has a style that is often described as romantic. First of all, the name of this period links it immediately with British royal history, which potentially creates confusion to non-British people who may not be aware that the reign of Queen Victoria relates to approximately the second half of the 19th century. Secondly, despite the fact that Queen Victoria died in 1901 the style itself continued into the 20th century. And last but not least, it can be argued that there are distinctly different styles which can all be referred to as Victorian, e.g. the use of flower motifs and pastel colours.

The period after the Victorian era is referred to as Edwardian, after Edward VII who reigned from 1901 to 1910, when he died. Nobody is sure whether 1910 is the correct end point for the period, with some people suggesting it should be 1912, when the Titanic sank, the start of World War I (1914), its end (1918), or the signing of the post-war peace treaty of Versailles (1919). Elsewhere in Europe, the Art Nouveau era ended around the same time, and unsurprisingly, Art Nouveau is also used to describe the style which was common in Britain at that time. Floral motifs were very common ... now where have I heard about that before?³⁰
